Cox and Roosevelt the Nominees

Winning Ticket That Will Carry N. Y., Penn'a, Indiana, Illinois and California

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT IS NOMINATED SECOND CHOICE OF BOURBONS BY ACCLAMATION

Democracy With Cox and Roosevelt Look
to Have Good Ticket to Go Before Voters
This Fall. Six Opponents of Roosevelt Withdraw to Make His Selection.

AUDITORIUM, San Francisco, July 6.—At 3:29 the big show was all over and the convention adjourned for the last time.

AUDITORIUM, San Francisco, July 6.—Franklin D.
Roosevelt, secretary of the navy, was nominated for vice-president by the Democratic National Convention this afternoon when other candidates withdraw in his favor. The nomination was by acclamation.

Six others besides Roosevelt had been nominated. They were: General L. D. Tyson of Tennessee, Edward L. Doheny of California, Governor Stewart of Montana, Governor Hawley of Idaho and David R. Francis of Missouri.

Governor Stewart started the movement by taking the stand to withdraw and second the nomination of Roosevelt.

General Tyson also took the stand to withdraw his name.
Governor Smith gained audience to say that New York's 90
delegates authorized seconding of the name of Roosevelt.

It was exactly 3:15 o'clock when the convention with loud cheers nominated Roosevelt.

David R. Francis of St. Louis, former governor of Missouri, and American Ambassador to Russia, also took the platform and besides moving the nomination by acclamation, withdrew his own name.

Richmond Man Is Struck by Train

OAKLAND, July 6.—J. J. Kerr, 921 Alameda street, an employee of the Standard Oil Company of Richmond, was struck by a Key Route

train Sunday night at Arlington and Adelphi streets. The speeding train struck him a glancing blow and hurled him to one side of the track. He sustained concussion of the brain and various cuts and bruises. He was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition.

GOVERNOR COX WINS LONG FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—Governor James Middleton Cox of Ohio was today named Democratic candidate for President of the United States. The nomination came on the forty-fourth roll call. Samuel B. Amidon, Kansas National Committeeman, and a McAdoo leader, seeing the tide sweeping toward Cox, moved that the rules be suspended and that Cox be declared
the unanimous choice of the party.

The finish came at 1:43 a. m., after the convention had been in session, save for a brief recess for dinner, from 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

The deadlock was broken on the thirty-eighth ballot when Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer withdrew and released his delegates.
Cox got most of the votes that Palmer released and as the balloting progressed he gained steadily,
while McAdoo's strength declined correspondingly.

On the forty-third ballot the Mc-Adoo forces began to crumble. The forty-fourth roll call was still in progress when the end came. The count stood Cox 699-2 and McAdoo 270. From 728 to 730 votes, depending on the number cast, were

COX GETS WORD OF VICTORY AT OFFICE

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 6.—Prohibition, as a political issue, is solely a question of law enforcement, according to Governor James M. Cox. On that issue he is willing to stand by his record in Ohio.
"Any provision, constitutional or statutory, must be accepted as the expressed mandate of the people and representing the wishes of the majority. Unless we hold to that in principle in government, then we will be chargeable with the very things we hold against the Bolshevik," he declared in an interview given to the Ohio State Journal just before leaving Columbus for "Trail's End," his Dayton home.

"Whatever the law is, it should be enforced. That process will demonstrate its wisdom or its weakness, and, if change is necessary, we have the government facility to transform. That is why evolution makes revolution both unnecessary
and impossible in America."

HE CLOSE SALOONS

His stand for law enforcement,
the Governor said, was responsible for his defeat in 1914 for a second term by Frank B. Willis, "who, by the way, nominated Senator Harding at Chicago," he commented. "It was the law that saloons should be closed and I closed them."

necessary to nominate. Michigan had passed and was caucusing, evidently preparing to throw its entire vote to Cox. Colorado, through its chairman, was in the act of changing its vote and casting it solidly for Cox.

At this juncture Amidon appeared on the rostrum. The instant he put his motion, pandemonium broke loose. From that point on the Cox men were in the saddle and the Ohioan's victory proved a very popular one.

LONG ELECTED RICHMOND'S MAYOR

J. N. Long, Present Mayor, Receives Unanimous Vote
of Council to Serve in Same Capacity for Ensuing Term—S. P. to Fix All
Grade Crossings.

J. N. Long, for the past year
mayor of this city, was unanimously re-elected to this high office by members of the City Council last night. The motion was put by Councilman Lane, and City Clerk
Farris cast the ballot.

The Mayor in a few well chosen words thanked the Council for this honor, stating that while he realized he had made mistakes, he felt these were more of a personal than a public nature. Mayor Long has in the main made a good mayor,

and while the News has found occasion to criticize him for things that at the time seemed important, we are big enough to appreciate the esteem in which he is held by his co-workers, and congratulate him on his appointment.

According to Mayor Long, the Southern Pacific Railroad will commence the work of improving their city crossings within the next ten days. These crossings are, in the main, in a very bad condition, and the improvement will be welcomed by the whole city.

The Council last night passed a resolution setting forth the public necessity of the immediate improvement to our Inner Harbor.
This improvement, costing $400,000 being more than can be done with city funds, will have to be carried out by bonds, and the resolution passed last night clears the way for the passage of an ordinance calling for a bond election. The Council, not having heard from the telegram of last Monday night

to the Proctor & Gamble people, sent another wire last night, asking an expression from this firm as to their ultimate intentions regarding their proposed factory here.
This is done so that the general public might feel assured that the spending of $400,000 will not be a waste of money.

The ordinance creating the position of city manager was passed at its second reading last night.
The appointment will be made next Monday night.

The large electric sign to hang across San Pablo avenue at Cutting boulevard will be suspended
this afternoon.

FROM OTHER PENS

"Sister," said the deacon severely, "you should avoid the very appearance of evil."
"Why, Deacon, what do you mean?" asked the "sister."
"I observe that on your sideboard you have several cut-glass decanters, that each of them is half filled with what appears to be ardent spirits."
"Now, Deacon, it isn't anything of the kind. The bottles look so pretty on the sideboard that I filled them halfway with some floor stain and furniture polish just for the sake of appearance."
"That's why I am cautioning
you, sister. Feeling a trifle faint, I helped myself to a dose from that big bottle in the middle."

RICHMOND IS SCENE OF JOY

Big Fourth of July Celebration Closes with Great Eclat and Enthusiasm—
Three Days of Festivities
Prove Attractive to Home
Folks and Visitors Alike.

The most successful and largest Fourth of July celebration in Richmond's history was closed at midnight Monday when dancing stopped in the various halls in Richmond and the concessions, which lined Macdonald avenue from Tenth to First street, turned away their last customer.

Monday, the big day of the celebration, was given over to the parade of floats representing fraternal, civil, patriotic and labor organizations, industrial plants, miscellaneous houses and automobile houses.

Led by Marshal Lambert Ward,
the parade included three bands
and several drum corps, fraternal uniformed ranks, marching members of various fraternal organizations in addition to floats and decorated automobiles. The parade extended from First to Sixteenth street on Macdonald avenue, and lapped over several blocks as it doubled on its course.

Prominent in the parade was Miss Helene Sullivan, the Goddess of Liberty, seated on an elaborate float prepared by the Pullman Company. She was attended by Miss Jewel O'Rourke, Anna Sullivan, Edith Benochi, Minnie Nellan and Emmie Healey and Master T. Hennessy.

Immediately following the parade
thousands enjoyed the barbecue
luncheon served cafeteria style.

Monday afternoon was given over to the sports events, drill competition, greased pig chase, greased pole
climbing and other events.

During the evening there was dancing in all the halls and the carnival spirit prevailed on the streets where the concessions, in-

DIRECT VOTE VS. ELECTORAL

There is an increasing demand everywhere, except among the professional politicians, that the President of the United States should be elected by a direct vote of the people, and that the convention and electoral college systems be dumped into the rubbish heap of oblivion, along with chignons, bustles, livery stables, kings, emperors and other things which the times have gone ahead of.

The recent national conventions have again proven what we all already knew—that the bosses and the interests dominate us to an extent that is sufficient to challenge the national contention that the people rule. Money and political power and influence wielded together too much domination among the delegates, many of whom have personal axes to grind and want to make something out of the deal, financial, political or otherwise—in the main, some petty office.

Delegations went to both of the recent national conventions who were instructed by their States to vote for certain candidates for the Presidency, and upon arrival, after dickerings and conference, and all that old stuff with the manipulators, never cast one single vote according to the instructions from the people who sent them. What are the people to think of such an action? What is the only logical conclusion they can arrive at?

The necessary change should be made from the convention system to the direct vote of the people. If it can be done in a municipality, county or State, it can be done in the Nation, and until it is done the same old results must be attained, which are seldom satisfactory to the people.

The electoral college system of choosing a President is manifestly unfair and not at all in accordance with the rule that the majority shall dominate. One State may have 50,000 more people in it than another, and yet each have the same number of votes in the electoral college which decides who shall be President. There is not a bit of sense in any such system, and it ought to be changed, either to remedy that defect or be abolished altogether as a system. Here are two well-known instances where a man was elected President who received a minority vote of the people and the man for whom a big majority of the people voted for was declared defeated by the electoral college.

In 1876 Samuel J. Tilden received a total of 255,000 more votes than Rutherford B. Hayes, yet Hayes received one more vote in the electoral college than Tilden, and was therefore elected President. Again, in 1888, Grover Cleveland received a total of 109,000 more votes than Benjamin Harrison, yet Harrison was elected by the electoral college.

This sort of thing should not be possible in this country where the majority should always rule, and it does not make a particle of difference which party wins out or loses. It is not a matter of party, it is a matter of right and justice to all the people.

HIGH SOCIETY

The opinion of this humble scribe does not go very far with the ruling classes of society, but we are going to express it, anyway, in the hope of possibly deterring the coming generation from apeing after apex. It is that high society ought to change its name from high to low, for, judging by the very highest, it is about the lowest thing we know of.

The "400" of New York and Newport and the fashionables of London are just now standing on their hind legs and wildly waving their ample ears, over the fact that high society dames have appeared in the streets of London with skirts slit high enough to display the knees, and that the knees thus displayed are bare, and the embroidered stockings being turned down to show the bare knees, all same a Scottish kilt. Also the arms are bare, and have a cute little snake tattooed upon them; the shoulder blades also being bare and have butterflies tattooed upon them.

Only one thing is lacking, and that is entire nakedness, with miniature jackasses and kilds tattooed upon that portion of the anatomy about two or three feet below the base of the brain, or rather where the brain is in other people who do not belong to high society.

In the meantime Socialism, Bolshevism and Anarchy continue to grow, both in New York and London, and this is one of the main reasons. The squandering of dishonestly accumulated fortunes by brainless boobies of both sexes

PILLS AND SERUMS NEEDED

After reading pages and reams of the dope from the great conventions and the wonderful things the politicians of both sides are now going to do to save the world for democracy and the officeholders in the next few months, one is impressed with the idea that science has been derelict in its duty for not coming forward long ago with some kind of serum dope to cure men of humbuggery.

We are getting more or less inclined to the belief that humbuggery is a disease, national in its scope, and that some doctor will yet discover a Keely cure for it some day, composed of pills and injections of common sense and honesty, something more greatly needed in these reconstruction days than anything else. When such a discovery is made it will demonstrate that the bad habit of trying to fool all of the people all of the time is due to microbes that get into a politician's mind and make trouble trying to turn round, or to bacilli that bores holes in a man's moral character and lets his honesty leak out. The medical fraternity has already informed us that Kleptomania (sneak-thievery by eminently respectable people. Is a disease which should be treated with pills instead of penitentiaries. So, if a man will steal a sawmill and go back after the site simply because his gizzard is out of plumb or his liver has gone into politics, his circulation slipped an eccentric or his stomach out of proper orbit, might it not be that he becomes physically incapacitated for telling the truth or refraining from buying uninstructed delegates at so much per, by an insidious attack by some deadly falsehood fungi? And what shall we do with him in such event? Simply fumigate him, or bore a hole into his mentality through his ivory dome and pour in copious doses of Standard Oil or something else soothing.

THINKOGRAPHS

Off at the lunch-rooms where I live
To get myself a hunk
Of their "old-fashioned punkin pie"
The accent's on the punk.

It is hazardous nowadays to drink anything you cannot lift.

The delegates are all home again, explaining to the tax collector why they were detained.

Awful lot of yags these reconstruction days reconstructing the map of the innocent bystander's phiz with a yard of gas-pipe.

Over the portals of all bootlegging infernos should hang Dante's slogan—All who enter here check their baggage through to h—l.

We have got to hand it to the Democratic States for raising and supplying a thirsty world with the biggest and best watermelons.

California claims to be the land of eternal sunshine, as contra to Arkansas and Tennessee being the home of eternal moonshine.

The Esquimaux kiss by rubbing noses together, and that is the way fish make love, also. Maybe that accounts for the saying, "You poor fish."

The Democrats say the head of the Republican ticket is smaller than the tail, all same kangaroo. It is possible, of course, that they may be prejudiced about a nickel's worth.

The French ask Uncle Sam to absorb 29 billions of German indemnity bonds. Uncle is considerable of a sucker, as we must all admit, but not that bad, Frenchy, not that bad.

The Toledo Blade demanded planks in the platforms reading: "Damn the Profiteers." That would not do any good. They are already damned. What is needed is less words and more action.

Those who are doing all the yelling for light wines now never used to call for that kind of stuff when their feet were on the brass rail—it was for the old hard stuff, in copious doses, with maybe something like light wine for a chaser.

Mrs. and Mrs. Lambrecht and daughter visited the great convention Monday, the guests of Chairman White of the California State Committee, and enjoyed the big show immensely. It is a safe prediction that Cox and Roosevelt are going to get some Lambrecht votes.

Plain Pastry

This recipe is for one large pie with top and bottom crust

2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1/4 cup shortening
cold water

Sift together flour, salt and baking powder; add shortening and rub in very lightly with tips of fingers (the less it is handled the better the paste will be). Add cold water very slowly, enough to hold dough together (do not work or knead dough). Divide in halves; roll out one part thin on floured board and use for bottom crust. After pie is filled roll out other part for top.

Rich Pastry

2 cups pastry flour
1/2 teaspoon Royal Baking Powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup shortening
cold water

Sift flour, baking powder and salt; add one-half shortening and rub in lightly with fingers; add water slowly until of right consistency to roll out. Divide in halves; roll out one half thin; put on in small pieces half remaining shortening; fold upper and lower edges in to center; fold sides in to center; roll out this and put on pie plate. Repeat with other half for top crust.

Apple Pie

1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon Royal Baking Powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon shortening
1 apple, or 1 quart sliced apples
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon milk

Sift flour, baking powder and salt; add shortening and rub in very lightly; add just enough cold water to hold dough together. Roll half out on floured board, line bottom of pie plate; fill in apples, which have been washed, pared and cut into thin slices; sprinkle with sugar; sauté with cinnamon or nutmeg; wet edges of crust with cold water; roll out remainder of pastry; cover pie, pressing edges tightly together and bake in moderate oven 25 minutes.

No Imitations for Her.

A young physician took his best girl to a local picture house. Advertisements were being thrown on the screen, among them this one: "Make them happy with a photograph of yourself at Christmas. Our shop, etc."

The young man turned to his girl with the facetiousness of present-day features. "President Wilson's chin radiates determination, and Bryan's smile is unique of its kind, but the features are like the present day type."

Among men of letters James Fenimore Cooper bore the palm for beauty. He was large and finely proportioned. His features were of leonine cast, and his clear, gray eyes were radiant with power. Washington Irving was a handsome man, as was also N. P. Willis.

Misses Bessie Howard and Edith Pickett and Kendall Sanborne and Dominic Braco returned yesterday from a house party at the Kuhl ranch near Merced.

UNITED GENIUS AND BEAUTY

Many of America's Great Men Have Proved That the Two Can Exist Together.

While Socrates had the mind of a god and the form of a satyr, and many from that day on have said that beauty and genius do not go together, such is not the case in American history, according to Charles E. Corwin, writing in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. With few striking exceptions good looking, well proportioned men have achieved fame. Washington was a handsome man, and Gen. Winfield Scott was considered fine looking. Gen. Lee, of Civil war fame, was attractive in form and feature. Daniel Webster, Edward Everett, Horace Greeley and Franklin were handsome types of their periods.

The writer declares there has been a distinct change in the type of the American countenance. In colonial days the typical face was full, rosy and reposeful. Today the average countenance is somewhat sharp, pallid and expressive of energy. Roosevelt had the sharpness of present-day features. President Wilson's chin radiates determination, and Bryan's smile is unique of its kind, but the features are like the present day type.

Among men of letters James Fenimore Cooper bore the palm for beauty. He was large and finely proportioned. His features were of leonine cast, and his clear, gray eyes were radiant with power. Washington Irving was a handsome man, as was also N. P. Willis.

cluding a "49 Camp", were in operation.

Aside from the ball game, the feature of the celebration Sunday was the band concert and patriotic exercises held at the band stand Sunday evening. A large crowd gathered to hear the program of patriotic and popular music and the exercises. Chairman Charles F. Donnelly of the general committee opened the exercises with an address. The invocation was delivered by Rev. D. W. Calfee. The Declaration of Independence was read by Isaac McGuffin.

The coronation of Miss Helen Sullivan as Goddess of Liberty Saturday evening at the band stand at Tenth and Nevins avenue was witnessed by a crowd that jammed the square. Mayor James N. Long placed the crown on the queen of the celebration, and in a brief address presented the key to the city, pronouncing her ruler for the three days and declaring that the citizens of the city were her humble subjects. The band played as the crowd acclaimed the queen of the holiday.

The following were awarded prizes in the parade:

Best merchant's float: Richmond Feed and Grain Company, first; Nash Truck, second.

Best industrial floats: White Oil Girls, first; Richmond Navigation and Improvement Company, second.

Best fraternal or labor floats: Contra Costa County Building Trades Council, first; Red Men, second.

Best decorated automobiles: C. C. Kratzer, first; P. A. Pierson, second.

Best fraternal turnout: Royal Neighbors, first; Odd Fellows, second.

The judges were Mayor James N. Long and Superior Judges A. B. McKenzie and B. H. Latimer.

The following prizes were awarded for the best decorated stores and buildings:

LOCAL LAONICS of Richmondites

Mr. and Mrs. Jack King of Oakland visited friends in Richmond over the Fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kerigan of Vallejo were here for the Fourth of July celebration.

Miss Lenora Mallo underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Merritt Hospital in Oakland last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Galvin, pioneer residents of Pinole, have purchased a home at El Cerrito and moved there.

The engagement of Miss Vera Garfish of Pinole and Stanley Pickett of Birmingham, Ala., has been announced.

E. B. Anderson, who recently recuperated from an operation performed in San Francisco, was a visitor in Richmond over the Fourth.

The flag of sweet peas and other flowers in the Garfinkle window was a beautiful display. It was made by Adolph Winters, who is some floral artist, all right.

The two display windows of the Barbekas shoe store are a study in patriotic history well worth seeing. The whole story is there and must be seen to be understood and appreciated.

Miss Katherine Steel of Minneapolis, Minn., is a guest of Miss Norah McNeill, librarian. Miss Steele is librarian of the University of Minneapolis. She is planning to visit here for a month.

Editor Rugg was a Richmond visitor Monday, taking in the sight. He attended the barbecue and got filled up with roast beef for once in his life. He says Kuef is going to carry Martinez hands down by a rattling good majority. And Rugg generally knows.

Dr. and Mrs. Fernandez of Pinole are visiting at Victoria, B. C., and Yellowstone National Park.

Miss Lella McGriff and Hayward Iverson of Sacramento were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. T. Iverson over the holidays.

Miss Inez Thornequist of San Francisco spent the week end at the home of Mrs. H. K. Sanborn. Ruth Sanborn was also present.

Mrs. Audibere and daughter of the Seventh Street Apartments, have returned after a visit with friends at Roseville.

Ray Seaman is on Point San Pablo this morning, to put in some trestle work. He is inclined to believe that a third party could beat both the old ones.

Ray Bushnell, formerly with the News, came over from San Francisco and spent the holidays. He and his father are doing well there with a job printing shop.

The News believes that the Cox and Roosevelt ticket will carry New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, and it is a fair bet, also, that it carries California, including Richmond.

Louis Garfinkle is off today for Sacramento, to see his brother there and talk over business signs of the times. He had the biggest merchandising day here last Saturday ever in his history.

Rudolph Bremier, the demon male modiste of Oakland, took in the various events during the Fourth of July celebration here and renewed old acquaintances with his former friends in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Selvy and granddaughter of Long Beach are visiting at the home of Mr. Selvy's sister, Mrs. S. A. Stansberry, 624 Chanslor, and his brother-in-law, Lee Selvy, 300 Bissell avenue.

Transport Ashore With Gen. Liggett

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—The army transport South Bend, bound from San Francisco for Alaska and carrying 300 persons, including Lieutenant General Hunter Liggett and Mrs. Liggett, went ashore early today in a fog on Angeles Point, Puget Sound, according to a dispatch received by the Chamber of Commerce. The dispatch said that the vessel was not damaged and was in no immediate danger, and would probably be floated at the next high tide.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrill of San Francisco were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Roster, 554 Twenty-first street, over the Fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. P. F. O'Neill and daughter, of Tati, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hardman and daughter, of Ripon, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Stout, 110 Marthis avenue, over the Fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Johnson and daughter Mildred and Miss Treva Johnson motored up from Los Angeles and spent the Fourth of July with their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Johnson of 3425 Bissell ave.

Attorney Wilbur Pierce put in Monday and Monday night at the National Convention and got home intact. He returned with the conviction that it was quite possible for a good man to be a Democrat.

The action of President Wilson, the action of Mr. McAdoo, and the action of the convention all go to prove that McAdoo was not the choice of Wilson. You can't figure it out any other way. Why, we do not know, and very few do.

Much praise and credit is due to the various committees and the men and women who worked so hard on them, for the success of the celebration. There is much more hard work about such things than the average person appreciates or knows anything about. Everything worked out fine, and it took good generalship to do it.

RICHMOND ELKS WIN FROM "PETS"

The Richmond Elks trimmed the Petaluma Chickens at the First street grounds Sunday afternoon by a score of 11 to 7. The park was crowded by several thousand fans the largest attendance that ever saw a ball game in Richmond. Many spectators from Petaluma were at the game.

This makes two games won by the Elks in a series of five games. The only game that the locals lost was the one in which they were defeated by the Chickens at Petaluma.

"Babe" Hollis had one of his best days and had the Chickens pawing after his twisters. He retired 17 via the strikeout route.

The Chickens got in their runs in the first and third, and that's all. They were really only entitled to the three runs scored in the third.

Four runs were scored by them on a strikeout in the first inning. Hardly possible, yet it was so. And here's how: Berger fanned, Carrigan singled, Handel ditto. Holstrum struck out, Smith hit, scoring Carrigan. Ezetti walked. Paullicci fanned, but Cleek failed to hold the ball. Paullicci beat out his wild throw to first, with Handley and Smith scoring and Ezetti hot on the paths. Autrey pegged home and which Cleek again lost. Hollis fanned Bauer, the next man up.

The Elks got one run in their half of the first, when Benn, who singled, was forced home, as Locker singled and Schwake and Shanahan were issued passes.

The Elks tried hard to even things in the second, and had a fine opportunity to do so, and Andrada failed to connect, with the bases full, so only two were secured. After two were out, Benn was safe on an error by Handley. Locker singled. Shanahan singled, scoring Locker. Autrey was hit by Valla to fill the bases. Andrada fanned. Three runs were piled up by the "birds" in the third. Handley had fanned, Holstrum was walked, Smith hit a double scoring Holstrum. Ezetti cleaned things up with a three bagger, himself scoring on a double by Paullicci.

This made the Elks mad, and they got busy in their half of the third. They were materially assisted by Holstrum, with an error at an opportune moment, in the rally which netted the Elks six runs and placed them in the lead.

Hollis was out. Cleek hit one to right that was good for two bags, but he turned his ankle while rounding first and was forced to retire from the game. Autrey ran in his place. Fisher singled. Benn singled. Autrey out at home. Locker batted a double, scoring Fisher and Benn. Schwake hit a high and long one to Holstrum in right field which fell in his hands but rolled out again, to the joy of the fans. Locker romped home with the run that tied the score. Then Shanahan doubled, scoring Schwake. Autrey was peeved, so he slammed one too scoring Shanahan. Andrada singled and chased Autrey home. A double by Ashton, who went to judgment" or make hasty decisions on vital public questions.

"We must all be reminded that we progress in proportion as we lift ourselves to higher ideals, but we must not forget that we are in a country where the majority rule, and that we must proceed by the process of public desire. Things sometimes move slowly under a democracy in government, but they usually come out all right. The people have their rights and they must not be rushed off their feet. It is for them to say what they want and to prescribe the time and method of saying it."

While declaring that the vital principles of the League of Nations must be maintained, Governor Cox said:

"We should not close our minds to reservations that might be a means of reconciling differences."

Richmond Girl Is Sought by Police

The Oakland police were notified today of the disappearance Sunday of Lucilla Roley, age 13, 536 Third street, Richmond, and they have instituted a search for the girl.

She left her home in Richmond Sunday, telling her family that she would return soon. The disappearance of the girl was told to the Oakland police by her brother-in-law, H. A. Stahl of Richmond, who said that although the girl was only 13 she could easily pass for eighteen.

She is described as being of medium height, weight and complexion, and wore a white dress, a white sports coat with a blue sash and tan shoes and stockings when she disappeared.

All members of Richmond Lodge No. 13, Knights of Pythias, are requested to report at Pythian Castle on Fifth street on Monday, July 5, at 9 a. m. sharp, to participate in the parade. Members of the Uniform Rank will dress in uniform, with white gloves and side arms. Votaries of the Dramatic Order, Knights of Khorassan, will wear their fezes. Visiting Pythians from other lodges are invited to participate the same as resident members. Help the fastest growing lodge around the bay to make a showing. Let's go.

A. W. PARKER, C. C. 24. third, and a triple by Fisher gave the Elks another run in the fourth. Shanahan walked and scored on a hit by Hollis in the fifth. Fisher, Benn and Locker singled in turn off Valla in the sixth, knocking him from the box. Ezetti replaced him and retired the next three men.

There were many hundreds of out-of-town visitors here during the holidays, and they all went home satisfied that they had been shown a good time. There was something going on every minute, day and night.

Sergeant Paul MacCandless, who has been on furlough for a few weeks and visiting for a while his father here, Officer MacCandless of the police force, departed yesterday on the transport Great Northern for Honolulu. And "Mac" felt much like going along.
